Changes from previous year

The School Survey Data for Non-State Schools – Queensland (aka the 'Census') has moved online. This means that, from 2021 onwards, the previous interactive pdf will no longer be available. Instead, a web-based Census form is available for each accredited and operating site and mode of delivery in NSSAB Online Services. The layout of the online form, and the processes for filling it out, are similar to the previous interactive pdf.

The move to an online form allows for pre-population of a number of fields including school name, site code, other accreditation information and contact details. These fields should be checked by schools. Pre-populated fields related to accreditation are not updatable and, if any errors are found, users will need to contact the NSSAB Secretariat. Pre-populated fields related to school contact and principal details are updatable and any changes can be made on the form.

The online form also allows for accuracy and consistency checks in real time. If the form detects an error or inconsistency, an error message will appear informing the user what has gone wrong and how to fix it. These are called validation errors. All validation errors must be addressed before the Census form can be submitted.

In order to access the Census form, users must first log in to NSSAB Online Services. Once logged in, users will see a banner at the top of the page alerting them to the need for the submission of the school survey data.

School Survey Data for Non-State Schools - Queensland 2021 is currently being conducted. Please complete and submit the Census form by Friday, 5 March 2021.

All Census form/s for the school/governing body will be available for completion. Data entry may then begin.

The Census form automatically saves as the user progresses through it. This allows a user to stop entering data at any point, log out if they wish, and then come back at a later stage (after logging in again) to continue on from where they left off with the previously entered data available.

Changes to this document

For the 2021 Census, the following substantial changes were made to this document:

- amendments to reflect the Census form being able to be completed online
- guidance on students on individual learning plans
- change to include non-State schools accredited for distance education in the section Students accessing one or more subjects at a School of Distance Education.

Please ensure you familiarise yourself with all definitions to ensure that students entered on the Census form conform to the definitions and requirements in the instructions. The data in the Census form will be validated and may be subject to enrolment verification by the Board's authorised persons (auditors).

Overview

Data provided in the School Survey Data for Non-State Schools – Queensland 2021 (the 'Census form') are used by the Non-State Schools Accreditation Board (the 'Board') in connection with its statutory functions. The Queensland Department of Education (the 'Department') also uses the data in assessing the entitlement to allowances distributed to governing bodies of non-State schools on behalf of the Queensland Minister for Education.

Overseas students, who are responsible for the cost of their own education, do not receive state recurrent funding. These students are to be excluded from all sections of the Census form, except the Overseas students section.

Students on visitor visas, bridging visas with study limitations or no visa are also to be excluded from all sections of the Census form, except the section Students on visitor visas, bridging visas with study limitations or no visa. These may be students who do not currently hold a visa to stay in Australia or are on a temporary/bridging visa that has a limitation to study.

Census Day (Relevant day)

Census Day is the last Friday of February of each year. Complete the Census form using data as at Friday, 26 February 2021, except for Boarding fee concessions, which refers to 2020 data.

Return Date

The completed Census form is to be submitted to the Non-State Schools Accreditation Board Secretariat ('NSSAB Secretariat') by Friday, 5 March 2021 (Friday following Census Day).

Information collected

The Census form collects data on:

School principal and contact details

Relevant period

Student profile

Overseas students

Students on visitor visas, bridging visas with study limitations or no visa

Full-time students

Part-time students

English as a second language (ESL) students

Indigenous students (IND)

Students with disability (SWD)

Students from isolated zones (Remote and Very Remote)

Boarding students and boarding fee concessions (BRD)

Systems and processes (school enrolment and record keeping standards)

Retention of documentation

All enrolment, attendance and related documentation used in completing the Census form is to be retained by the school/governing body for a period of five years from Census Day, and in a way that ensures the integrity and security of the data and documents.

Accessing the Census form

NSSAB Online Services access

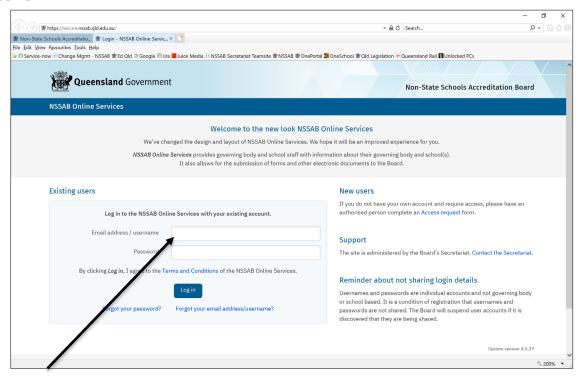

User account

Before starting, you must have an active NSSAB Online Services account with either school or governing body access.

Depending on your school's reporting arrangements, an authorised school user may be able to complete and submit the form. Otherwise, the form will need to be submitted by an authorised governing body user. Refer to Authorisation and declaration for further information regarding possible arrangements.

Logging in

Enter your user details and click the Log in button.

If you do not have an account, you will need to get an authorised person to complete and submit an Access request form on your behalf.

If you have forgotten your username, you will need to contact the NSSAB Secretariat.

If you have forgotten your password, reset it here or at the link on the login page. An email will be sent to your registered email address enabling you to change your password.

¹ A school user can only submit the census form if the user is the authorised person for the census for the school.

ACCESSING THE CENSUS FORM

Once logged in, you will see a banner at the top of the page alerting you that School Survey Data for Non-State Schools - Queensland 2021 data collection is being conducted and that you will need to complete a Census form.

The Census form can be accessed either through the banner or through the Data collection section on the left hand side.

The banner will show while the data collection is running. Select Census form or Census under Data collection and you will be directed to all data collection forms you have access to on the Census homepage.

School Survey Data for Non-State Schools - Queensland 2021 is currently being conducted. Please complete and submit the Census form by Friday, 5 March 2021.

What can I access for my relevant school or governing body?

School users will be able to see all data collection forms for the relevant school (all accredited and operating sites and modes of delivery).

Governing body users will be able to see all data collection forms for all schools under the governing body (including all operating sites and modes of delivery).

The buttons on the left and the status in the Status column will change depending on the progress of the census. Refer to the below table for progress definitions.

Button	Status	Progress	Available actions

		Authorisation and declaration page has been completed. The form is awaiting submission.
View	Submitted	The form has been submitted. No further changes can be made.	Select the View button to view the completed form. If you find an error in your submission, please contact the Board Secretariat.

Single-site schools

The majority of schools are single-site schools and, as such, will only have one Census form to complete.

Multi-site schools

Multi-site schools operate on at least two separate sites with separate location addresses. The parent site (host centre) governs subsidiary sites (associated facilities) at a multi-site school. Schools with multiple sites will have one form for each site. The site code and suburb will identify which Census form you are completing.

A separate Census form should be completed for each site of a multi-site school.

Mode of delivery

For non-State schools accredited to offer both classroom and distance education, a separate Census form will be available for each mode of delivery. One Census form should be completed for students enrolled in classroom education and one Census form should be completed for students receiving a full service delivery in distance education programs.

How to get started

Select the Start button next to the Census that you wish to view / edit.

This will take you to the first page of the data collection form entitled About the census. Please read the information carefully.

Once you have read and understood the information, either select the Next button at the bottom right of the page or select Site details in the left-hand progress indicator.

How to navigate the data collection form

You will see what data collection form you are viewing / editing at the top of the page.

The left-hand progress indicator only shows two pages to start with.

You will need to check the Site details before you can proceed. The images below shows the fields that will be populated with your school accreditation details.

Once the Site details have been checked and confirmed whether they are correct or not, more of the left-hand progress indicator will appear as per the below image.

The remainder of the form will depend on your selections under the Student profile. Once that section has been completed, the form will show all pages that require completion for the relevant site and mode of delivery.

Site details

All site details are pre-filled on the Census form from information contained in the Register of Non-State Schools (the "Register") as administered by the Board. If any of these details are incorrect, please contact the NSSAB Secretariat. School details as recorded on the register may be viewed on the Non-State schools directory.

Completing the Site details page

Select Click here to answer the question Are the details above correct?

A new window will pop up. Choose "Yes" or "No" and then select the OK button.

If the details are incorrect and you select "No" you will be asked to contact the Board Secretariat.

If the details are correct and you selected "Yes", click the Next button to continue.

Principal and contact details

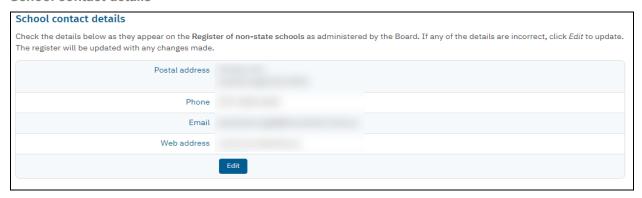

All school contact and principal details are pre-filled on the Census form from information contained in the Register. If any of these details are incorrect, please make corrections on the form using the Edit button.

There is no need to contact the NSSAB Secretariat if these details are incorrect.

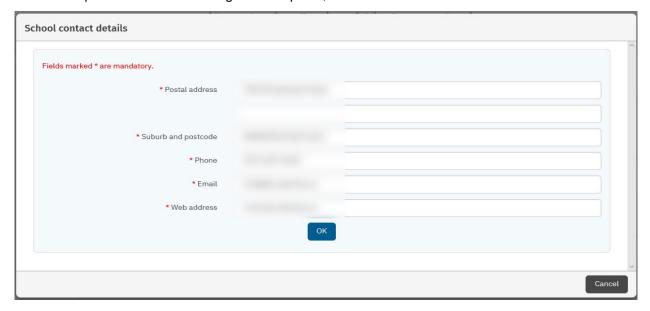

The contact person details are for census enquiries.

Completing the Principal and contact details page

School contact details

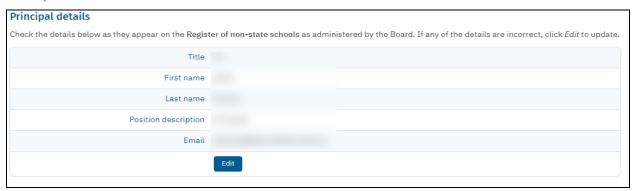

Review the pre-filled details. If changes are required, select the Edit button.

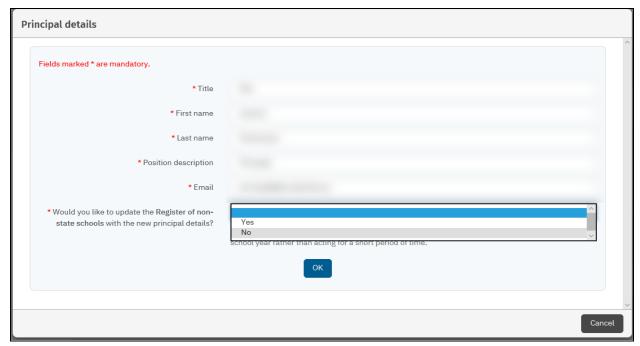

A new window will pop up and you can make changes as required. Select the OK button once all changes have been made. The Register will be updated accordingly.

The information provided in Phone, Email and Web address will be used, should it be necessary, for the Board to contact the school. The phone number and web address is also published in the Non-State Schools directory. General contact details for the school or site should be provided rather than those of an individual.

Principal details

Review the pre-filled details. If changes are required, select the Edit button.

A new window will pop up and you can make changes as required. You have the option to update the Register with the new details by selecting "Yes" for the last question, or leave them as they were shown prior to the edit if the principal is acting for a short period by selecting "No". Select the OK button once all changes have been made.

Contact person details

Select Click here to provide this information.

A new window will pop up and you will be able to enter the information required.

Enter the full name, phone number and contact email address of the person who can assist with queries about the data. Select the OK button once all details have been entered.

Relevant period

The relevant period means the period starting on the first day that students are to attend school in a calendar year and ending on the relevant day for the year.

The relevant day is the last Friday in February of each year as per the Education (Accreditation of Non-State Schools) Regulation 2017, Part 4.

Student free days

A student free day is part of the relevant period. The day should be counted as absence beyond the control (refer to Full-time students and Part-time students for more information regarding attendance requirements).

School holidays, public holidays and weekends

School holidays, public holidays, and weekends are not part of the relevant period.

Staggered starts

If the school has staggered starts for different years of schooling, provide the first day that a student was to attend the school for the calendar year. For example if the school starts with Year 7 and Year 12 on 27 January 2021 and then rolls out the other years of schooling throughout the remainder of the week, enter 27 January 2021 as the start date. The days that some students were not required to attend due to staggered starting dates, should be counted as absence beyond the control ('Student free day').

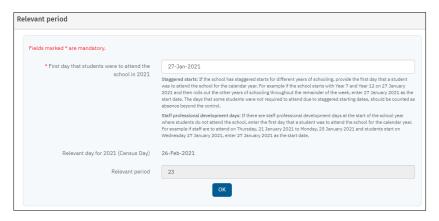

Staff professional development days

If there are staff professional development days at the start of the school year where students do not attend the school, enter the first day that a student was to attend the school for the calendar year. For example, if staff are to attend on Thursday, 21 January 2021 to Monday, 25 January 2021 and students start on Wednesday 27 January 2021, enter 27 January 2021 as the start date.

Enter the First day that students were to attend the school in 2021.

The form calculates the Relevant period for the site. Select the OK button once the date has been entered. Select the Next button to continue.

Student profile

This section requires you to select the type(s) of students at the site. This data is not pre-filled and your selection will depend on the type(s) of students enrolled at the site.

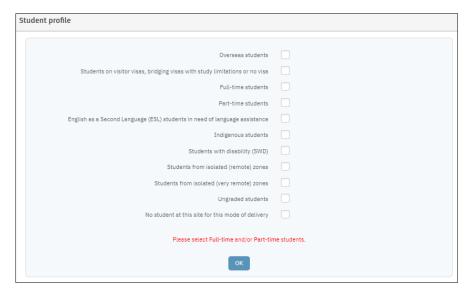

Refer to the individual categories for further information and to identify which students meet the qualifying criteria for each type:

- Overseas students
- · Student on visitor visas, bridging visas with study limitation or no visa
- Full-time students
- Part-time students
- English as a Second Language (ESL)
- · Indigenous students
- · Students with disability (SWD)
- Students from isolated (remote) zones
- · Students from isolated (very remote) zones
- · Ungraded students

A new window will pop-up and you will be able to select the checkboxes relevant to the site.

As each checkbox is selected, the relevant part of the Census form will appear to enable completion. A particular section of the form will not appear unless its checkbox has been selected here.

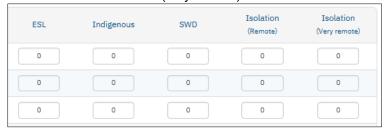

The following categories will appear as additional pages in the data collection form and will therefore appear in the left-hand progress indicator:

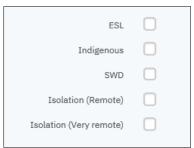

- · Overseas students
- · Students on visitor visas, bridging visas with study limitation or no visa
- · Full-time students
- · Part-time students
- Students with disability (EAP by impairment category)

The following categories will appear as additional columns under full-time students or checkboxes under part-time students:

- English as a Second Language (ESL) students
- · Indigenous students
- Students with disability (SWD)
- · Students from isolated (remote) zones
- Students from isolated (very remote) zones

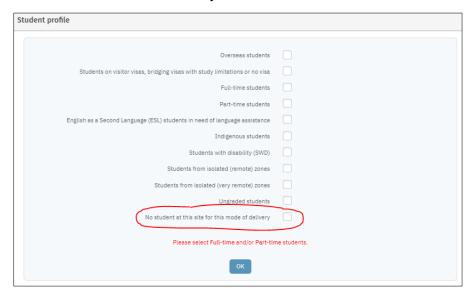

Please note, for students requiring English as a Second Language (ESL) assistance, there must have been an assessment conducted prior to Census Day for them to be included on the Census form. Students who have not been assessed as requiring ESL assistance by Census Day should not be included on the Census form. Documentation substantiating the inclusion of ESL students on the Census form must be kept for a period of five years from Census Day in a way that ensures the integrity and security of the data and documents. Refer to English as a second language (ESL) assistance for the full definition.

STUDENT PROFILE

No students at the site for the mode of delivery

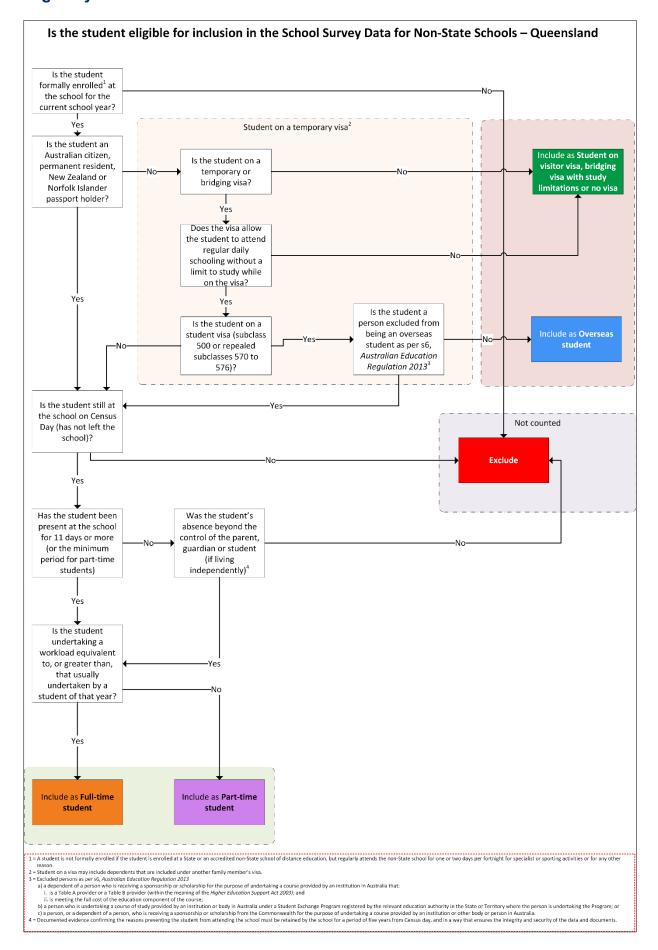

If there are no student at the site for the mode of delivery at the site, select the last check box No student at this site for this mode of delivery.

This will allow you to submit the form without any further school details. You will still need to complete the Authorisation and declaration section before you can submit the form.

Eligibility chart

Overseas students

An overseas student holds, or is included in, a visa that permits the visa holder to travel to Australia for the purpose of undertaking a course provided by an educational establishment.

This means a student is reported as an overseas student if they are on a visa that is specifically related to studying in Australia (or a bridging visa attached to a substantive visa with those provisions).

For the purposes of the Census, an overseas student includes:

- A full-fee paying overseas student who has been issued a Student visa in his/her own right. The child is the primary visa holder and can only be enrolled with a Commonwealth Register of Institutions and Courses for Overseas Students (CRICOS)-registered provider.
- A child who is a dependent under another family member's Student visa. In this case, the other family member is the primary visa holder and will be enrolled in a course of study with a CRICOS—registered provider. As a dependent, the child has study rights under this family member's Student visa and is considered to be full-fee paying.
 Note: A school does not have to be CRICOS-registered to enrol a child who is a dependent under another family member's Student visa. However, once a child is issued a Student visa in his/her own right, the child may only be enrolled with a CRICOS-registered provider.
- A child on a Bridging visa and the substantive student visa issued is still valid. Such a child may be a primary visa holder, or a dependent under someone else's Student visa.
 Note: Where a child's student visa has expired, and the bridging visa is in effect, the student is then classified according to the bridging visa status.

As of 1 July 2016, the Student visa subclass is 500.

Note: The visa subclasses 570 to 576, issued before 1 July 2016, will remain valid until the expiry date given when the visa was granted.

Schools with overseas students who are the primary holders of a subclass 500 visa, or a 571 visa subclass issued before 1 July 2016, are required to be registered as a provider of courses for overseas students on CRICOS.

Students are required to be recorded on the Commonwealth's Provider Registration and International Students Management System (PRISMS). Schools do this by the issuing of a Confirmation of Enrolment (CoE) at the time when an offer of enrolment is made. The student will submit the CoE to the Commonwealth Department of Home Affairs to apply for their Student visa.

Information on conditions of any visa subclass can be found at https://immi.homeaffairs.gov.au.

Exchange students

Exchange students are school-aged students participating in a secondary student exchange program with an exchange organisation that is registered by the Department. Schools can differentiate exchange students from full-fee paying overseas students through their enrolment under an Acceptance Advice for Secondary Exchange Students (AASES). Secondary student exchange programs do not involve payment of tuition fees, and are not more than 12 months in duration. The programs are part of a reciprocal arrangement that allows an overseas student to attend a Queensland secondary school on a full-time basis and a Queensland student to attend an overseas secondary school on a full-time basis.

Note: Exchange students, like full-fee paying overseas students, will have a subclass 500 Student visa.

Exchange students are to be included as regular full-time students if they meet all other Census criteria and if, immediately prior to the exchange, they were active in a classroom primary, secondary or special education program at a school, which contributes to a Year 12 (or equivalent) certificate in their own country.

Recurrent grants cannot be paid in respect of a person who has completed their formal schooling in their own country.

Students on a short-term cultural visit (for example, students in Australia on a Tourist or Visitor's visa for less than three months on a study tour, or in Australia for intensive English classes) should be included in the Students on visitor visas, bridging visas with study limitations or no visa section of the Census form.

Students to be excluded

Overseas students should only be included in the Overseas students section of the Census form, and should be excluded from all other sections.

The following students on visas are not classed as overseas students and should be included as regular full-time or part-time students in the other sections of the Census form:

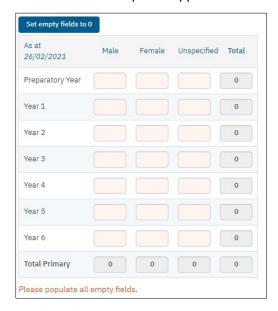

- permanent residents of Australia;
- New Zealand and Norfolk Islander passport holders;
- temporary visa holders on a visa that permits them to attend regular daily schooling without a limit to study;
- Persons excluded from being an overseas student as per section 6 of the Australian Education Regulation 2013:
 - o a dependent of a person who is receiving a sponsorship or scholarship for the purpose of undertaking a course provided by an institution in Australia that:
 - is a Table A provider or a Table B provider (within the meaning of the Higher Education Support Act 2003); and
 - is meeting the full cost of the education component of the course;
 - a person, or a dependent of a person, who is receiving a sponsorship or a scholarship from the Commonwealth for the purpose of undertaking a course provided by an institution or other body or person in Australia;
 - students who are studying in Australia through a Queensland government-registered secondary student exchange organisation (that is, exchange students as per definition below).

For the purposes of the Census, overseas students do not include students enrolled at a school under a visa category other than a 500 or repealed 570 to 576 student visa.

Please also refer to Students on visitor visas, bridging visas with study limitations or no visa in these Instructions for further information on students who should only be included in that section of the Census form.

Completing the Overseas students page

If you selected Overseas students in the Student profile, this section will need to be completed. All boxes that need to be completed appear red in colour and turn white once completed.

Enter all overseas students according to their year of schooling and gender.

You can select the Set empty fields to 0 button once you have entered all students to populate the remaining fields with "0".

The form will calculate the totals. These fields are grey in colour.

Select the Next button once you have completed all fields.

Students on visitor visas, bridging visas with study limitation or no visa

Students who are on certain temporary visas, which limit their study, or 'No visa' students, should be included in this section.

This may include:

- a child on a Visitor visa which may allow them to study for a limited period of time.
- a child on a Bridging visa where the substantive Visitor visa issued is still valid.
 Note: Where a child's Visitor visa has expired, the student is then classified according to the bridging visa status.
- a child on a Bridging visa where the visa has a limitation to study.
- a child without a visa who may be accommodated in a community-based detention program or other community housing and attending a non-State school while their visa (for example, Bridging or Safe-haven visa) is being processed (previously 'No visa' students).

Please note that students on a Visitor visa can enrol at any school during their stay on that visa, but must transfer to a CRICOS-registered school should they wish to continue studying on a Student visa. They can remain at a non CRICOS-registered school, if they are applying for a residency visa and hold a bridging visa until their residency visa application is decided.

Students to be excluded

The students listed above should only be included in the Students on visitor visas, bridging visas with study limitations or no visa section of the Census form, and should be excluded from all other sections.

The following students on visas are not classed as 'Students on visitor visas, bridging visas with study limitations or no visa' and should be included as regular full-time or part-time students in the full-time or part-time sections of the Census form:

- Australian citizens
- permanent residents of Australia;
- New Zealand and Norfolk Islander passport holders;
- temporary visa holders on a visa that permits them to attend regular daily schooling without a limit to study;
- persons excluded from being an overseas student as per section 6 of the Australian Education Regulation 2013.

Please also refer to Overseas students in these Instructions for information on students who are only to be included in the Overseas students section of the Census form.

Completing the Students on visitor visas, bridging visas with study limitations or no visa page

If you selected Students on visitor visas, bridging visas with study limitations or no visa in the Student profile, this section will need to be completed. All boxes that need to be completed appear red in colour and turn white once completed.

Enter all Students on visitor visas, bridging visas with study limitations or no visa according to their year of schooling and gender.

You can select the Set empty fields to 0 button once you have entered all students to populate the remaining fields with "0".

The form will calculate the totals.

Select the Next button once you have completed all fields.

Student definition (applies to regular full-time and part-time students)

There are four requirements that must be met for a student to be included on the Census form as a regular student:

- the student (whether full-time or part-time) must be formally enrolled at the school on Census day;
- 2. the student must be enrolled in a year level (other than ungraded students), mode of delivery and student-intake type (gender) that the school is accredited for at that location;
- the student must have attended the school for at least 11 days for full-time students (or at least the minimum period for part-time students) between the first day of the school year and Census Day; and
- 4. the student must be an Australian citizen, permanent resident, or a person with appropriate resident status.

A student who has attended the school for less than 11 days for full-time students (or less than the minimum period for part-time students), however, can be included in the Census if the student's absence was for a reason that was beyond the control of:

- the student's parent/guardian; or
- the student (if living independently).

Some examples, expressed broadly, of reasons for absence that are beyond the control of the student's parent/guardian, or the student (if living independently) follow:

- natural disasters for example cyclone, bushfire, flood;
- student's illness;
- death or illness of a member of the student's immediate family (such as a parent, guardian, grandparent, sibling);
- funeral customs within the student's community; or
- student is a competitor in an elite level sports competition.

While it is not possible to provide an exhaustive list of particularised examples to cover all contingencies in schools, see Appendix 2 for some more detailed instances applied to scenarios arising from time-to-time in schools.

In each case where a student has attended the school for less than 11 days for full-time students (or less than the minimum period for part-time students) and been included in the Census form, there must be documented evidence confirming the reasons preventing the student from attending the school during this period. All students who have not met minimum attendance requirements are to be listed in the Full-time students who did not attend the school during the relevant period for the school for at least 11 days of the program or course of study for which the students are enrolled section of the Census form or the Part-time students who did not attend the school during the relevant period for at least the Minimum Period Part-time (MPP) of the program or course of study for which the students are enrolled section, depending on whether they are full-time or part-time.

Note: All enrolment, attendance and related documentation used in completing the Census form must be retained by the school/governing body for a period of five years from Census Day, and in a way that ensures the integrity and security of the data and documents.

Distance education students

Students undertaking part of their course through a School of Distance Education (for example, undertaking a subject that is not available at their school or is available at the school only at the same time as another subject being studied) are not categorised as distance education students.

For a governing body to be eligible for funding for distance education students, the school must be accredited by the Board to deliver education in distance mode. Only distance education students resident in Queensland, enrolled full-time, undertaking a full service delivery course in distance education and who enrolled at least 11 days before Census Day (or less, if the delay was beyond the control of the parent or independent student) should be included in the Census form.

The school administration must maintain robust management systems of enrolment, attendance, learning activity and teacher interaction with all students who are included in this Census form.

More information is available in Appendix 1.

Type(s) of education

Primary students

A primary student is a student participating in education in the Preparatory (Prep) Year or from Year 1 to Year 6.

Preparatory Year

To be eligible for the Prep Year, a child must be at least 5 years and 6 months old on 31 December in the year of attendance (also refer to section 17 of the Education (General Provisions) Regulation 2017).

The principal may enrol a child in the Prep Year if the child will be at least 5 years and 5 months old on 31 December and if the principal is satisfied that the child is ready for education in the year of schooling, considering the child's attributes.

The principal may enrol a child, regardless of age, if the child has started education in another state or country that is equivalent to the Prep Year, and the principal considers the child is ready for education in the Prep Year, considering the child's attributes.

It is compulsory for all students enrolling in Year 1 to have undertaken a Prep Year at a State or non-State school, or equivalent, unless the principal is satisfied the child is otherwise ready to be enrolled in Year 1 of schooling at the school, considering the child's attributes.

Year 1 to Year 6

Section 18 of the Education (General Provisions) Regulation 2017 relates to the age for enrolment in Year 1 to Year 6.

Secondary students

A secondary student is a student participating in education from Year 7 to Year 12.

Ungraded students (special unit/class or non-special)

Ungraded students are students attending a primary, secondary or combined primary/secondary school but who are unable to be allocated to a particular year level. The students should be identified as primary or secondary students for grant purposes.

Ungraded secondary students will need to be further classified as being either under 15 years of age (that is, equivalent to Year 7 to Year 10) or 15 years of age or older (that is, equivalent to Year 11 and Year 12) as at 1 January 2021 to meet the requirements under the Textbook and Resource Allowance scheme. Payments under the scheme are made at one rate for Year 7 to Year 10 students and at a different rate for Year 11 and Year 12 students.

Ungraded students may include students with disability. These students may be in special classes or units in regular schools and will have been formally assessed as having a disability, and may or may not be integrated into a regular class for certain curricula activities, for example, mathematics or physical education.

Full-time students

What is a full-time student

A full-time student is a person who satisfies the student definition and undertakes a workload equivalent to, or greater than, that usually undertaken by a student of that year. This definition relates to workload and not to enrolment. A full-time student has a Full Time Equivalent (FTE) of 1.0.

A full-time student can be included if the student:

- is formally enrolled at the school; and
- is acknowledged by the school as having attended the school for at least 11 days of the program or course of study for which the student is enrolled between the first day of the school year and Census Day (the 'relevant period' ['RP']).

A full-time student is also taken to have attended the school during the RP if:

- the student attended the school for less than 11 days because of the student's absence from the school; and
- the student's absence was for a reason that was beyond the control of the student's parent or guardian, or the student (if living independently).

Enrolment and attendance records, and all associated documentation used in determining eligibility for students to be counted on the Census form, must be retained by the school/governing body for a period of five years from Census Day, and in a way that ensures the integrity and security of the data and documents.

A full-time student must be an Australian citizen, permanent resident, or person with appropriate resident status.

Where a full-time student has attended the school for less than 11 days and been included in the Census form, there must be documented evidence confirming the reasons preventing the student from attending the school during this period. All students who have not met minimum attendance requirements and are included in the Census, are to be listed in the Full-time students who did not attend the school during the relevant period for the school for at least 11 days of the program or course of study for which the students are enrolled section of the Census form.

Full-time students on individual learning plans

One of the ways schools may cater for individual students' needs is by implementing a more flexible approach through an individual learning plan with the goal to improve the educational outcomes for the student. This could mean that a particular student may not be required to attend the school on certain days. The student may, for example, participate in other timetabled activities away from the school, if the school sees these activities as contributing to the social and/or emotional welfare of the student and/or the student's engagement with education. It is up to the school to demonstrate the educational reason(s) for the approach and that the student is undertaking a full-time workload modified according to the student's needs.

The school must ensure that the student's individual learning plan is fulfilling all curriculum, assessment and reporting requirements as per the school's written educational program. This program must comply with section 9 of the Education (Accreditation of Non-State Schools) Regulation 2017.

The school must have appropriate documentation about the arrangement in place for the day(s) a student is away from the school. The documentation may include, but is not limited to:

how the plan will improve the educational outcomes for the student / educational reason(s)

FULL-TIME STUDENTS

- the place where the student is learning
- what days the student is away from the school
- the school's expectations of the student's activities for the day
- how the school assures itself that the student is fulfilling expectations
- contact made by the school with the student on the day

Documentation substantiating these arrangements must be kept for a period of five years from Census Day in a way that ensures the integrity and security of the data and documents.

Refer to APPENDIX 2 for further guidance on attendance.

Schools need to ensure they are not providing a part-time distance education program to students learning away from school, except where a student is undertaking one or more subjects at a non-State school accredited for Distance Education or a state School of Distance Education and a fee is generally paid to the School of Distance Education for the service (refer to APPENDIX 1 for further guidance on what constitutes distance education).

Dual or split enrolment may apply to a student enrolled at multiple schools in Queensland. Students should be recorded as part-time students at each school according to their FTE at the school with the expectation that total attendance would not be more than one FTE.

Students accessing one or more subjects at a School of Distance Education

Students who are enrolled full-time in a non-State school can undertake one or more subjects at a non-State school accredited for Distance Education or a state School of Distance Education if:

- the subject is not offered by the non-State school; or
- the subject is offered by the non-State school, but the student is unable to access it due to a timetable clash or other special circumstance.

The non-State school generally pays the fee for the provision of distance education to the School of Distance Education and provides computer, internet and telephone access at school for the school based studies.

Secondary students undertaking TAFE / tertiary studies or school-based apprenticeship or traineeship

In addition to school subjects that are accredited by the Queensland Curriculum and Assessment Authority (QCAA) as contributing to a Year 12 (or equivalent) certificate, students undertaking any of the following should be included as full-time students:

- TAFE;
- tertiary studies;
- school-based apprenticeships or traineeships;
- work placements;
- VET in schools or a combination of such alternative pathways; and/or
- any combination of the above.

Students to be excluded

- students who are not formally enrolled at the school;
- full-time students who have attended less than 11 days from the first day of the school year up to Census Day. Students may be included, however, if the absence was beyond the control of the student's parent or guardian, or student (if living independently);
- part-time students;
- students who are registered, or provisionally registered, in Queensland for home education;
- children who are prohibited from engaging in studies as a condition of a visa;
- overseas students (refer to Overseas students in these Instructions);
- students on visitor visas, bridging visas with study limitations or no visa (refer to Students on visitor visas, bridging visas with study limitations or no visa in these Instructions);
- underage Prep Year students, unless the student is enrolled under the provisions outlined in section 17 of the Education (General Provisions) Regulation 2017;
- students who attended the school for specialist or sporting activities, but are not formally enrolled at the school; and
- students who have left the school (for example, have ceased education or changed schools).
 Schools must keep verifiable information on the date the student exited the school, that is, the student's last day of attendance.

- Number of days absent within control (ARWC) Enter the number of days the student was absent where the reason was within the control of the student, parent or guardian.
- Eligible for inclusion as a full-time student Automatically calculated. This will tell you whether the student can be included in the Census despite not having attended for the MPF.
- Beyond Control Reason/s Select relevant reason/s for any beyond control absences that you have stated in ARBC. For example if a student was absent for 20 days in total and 10 were absences beyond the control for two separate reasons, select the two reasons from Beyond Control Reason/s from the drop-down on the Census form. If the relevant reasons is not listed, choose "Other".
- Within Control Reason/s Select relevant reason/s for any absences that were within the control that you have stated in ARWC. For example if a student was absent for 16 days in total and all 16 days were absences within the control (for example, planned holiday) select the reason from Within Control Reason/s from the drop-down on the Census form. If the relevant reasons is not listed, choose "Other".

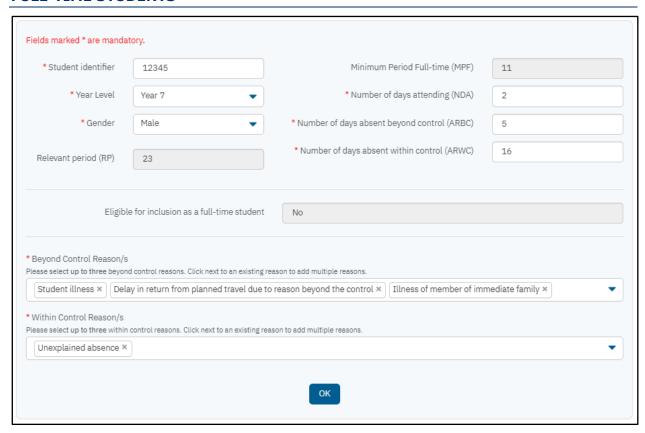

Reasons available for Beyond Control:

- Student illness
- Enrolled late due to reason beyond the control
- Delay in return from planned travel due to reason beyond the control

Regardless of whether a student is eligible or not, you will need to provide reasons for all absences (up to three beyond the control and/or three within the control of parent/guardian or independent student). Late enrolment: If a student enrolled late, the days that the student was not enrolled will be counted as absent days. Whether these days can be counted as days absent beyond the control, or within the control, will depend on why the student enrolled late. Even if the student enrolled late, it does not mean that the absence was beyond the control. Part-time students

What is a part-time student

A part-time student is a person who satisfies the student definition but who undertakes a workload less than that usually undertaken by a full-time student (as determined by the school) for that year. A part-time student has an FTE of less than 1.0.

A part-time student can be included if the student:

- · is formally enrolled at the school; and
- is acknowledged by the school as having attended the school for at least the Minimum Period Part-time ('MPP')* of the program or course of study for which the student is enrolled during the relevant period ('RP') [The RP is the number of days between the first day of the school year and Census Day]

A part-time student is also taken to have attended the school if:

- the student attended the school for less than the MPP because of the student's absence from the school: and
- the student's absence was for a reason that was beyond the control of the student's parent or guardian, or the student (if living independently).

Enrolment and attendance records, and all associated documentation used in determining eligibility for students to be counted on the Census form, must be retained by the school/governing body for a period of five years from Census Day, and in a way that ensures the integrity and security of the data and documents.

A part-time student must be an Australian citizen, permanent resident, or person with appropriate resident status.

In each case where a student has attended the school for less than the MPP and been included in the Census form, there must be documented evidence confirming the reasons preventing the student from attending the school during this period. All students who have not met minimum attendance requirements and are included in the Census are to be listed in the Part-time students who did not attend the school during the relevant period for at least the Minimum Period Part-time (MPP) of the program or course of study for which the student is enrolled section of the Census form.

Students to be excluded

- students who are not formally enrolled at the school;
- part-time students who have attended for less than the MPP from the first day of the school year up to Census Day unless the absence was beyond the control of the student's parent or guardian, or the student (if living independently);
- part-time distance education students;
- full-time students;
- students who are registered, or provisionally registered, in Queensland for home education;
- children who are prohibited from engaging in studies as a condition of a visa;
- overseas students (refer to Overseas students in these Instructions);
- students on visitor visas, bridging visas with study limitations or no visa (refer to Students on visitor visas, bridging visas with study limitations or no visa in these Instructions);

If the relevant reasons is not listed, choose "Other".

Formula MPP

* Minimum period part-time ('MPP'): This figure is calculated automatically from data entered into the Census form. It is calculated as follows:

To determine the MPP, divide 11 by the number of days in the RP and multiply this number by the number of days the student is enrolled to attend the school on a part-time basis during the RP. The MPP must be rounded up to a whole number.

Formula: $MPP = PTD \times (11/RP)$

PTD means the number of days during which a program or course of study, for which the student is enrolled, is taught in the relevant period.

Example:

Levi, a part-time student, is enrolled to attend a non-State school Tuesday to Friday of each week. The school opened on Wednesday, 27 January 2021, so the RP for that school is 23 days. For Levi, there are 19 days in his educational program over the RP. This is his PTD.

MPP = 19 days x (11/23)

= 9.09 days rounded up to 10 days.

Levi's MPP is therefore ten days. Note that a part day is taken to be one whole day for the purpose of calculating MPP and PTD.

PART-TIME STUDENTS

Reference period

The reference period for determining the Full-Time Equivalent (FTE) of a student consists of five continuous school days within the RP.

English as a second language (ESL) assistance

ESL students are those whose first language is a language or dialect other than Standard Australian English and who require additional support to assist them to develop proficiency in English. These students need support with written or spoken English in order to access the curriculum.

For an ESL student to be included on the Census form, they must have been assessed as requiring assistance before Census Day, whether they are receiving support or not. The principal is the final decision-maker, but any qualified person can undertake the assessment of whether a student receives support. Usually this would be a specialist ESL or learning support teacher.

Identification of students needing support should be done at least on an annual basis. This identification could be through any one of a range of processes, for example, through observation and analysis of work samples by the classroom teacher, through observations of the student by the principal or other qualified teacher, through the results of targeted assessment (for example, National Languages and Literacy Institute of Australia ESL bandscales) or through any other appropriate process specific for ESL. Documentation supporting the principal's identification process (including, at a minimum, the basis for the decision) must be kept for a period of five years from Census Day, and in a way that ensures the integrity and security of the data and documents.

ESL students speak languages other than English as their first language(s). Many Indigenous students in Queensland have ESL learning needs. For many of these students, Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander language or Creole is their first language. Many speak more than one of these languages or dialects before starting school.

Students whose first language is not English do not always require ESL assistance. Their proficiency in the English language is determined at the local level to identify whether or not they require assistance to enable them to participate fully in mainstream classroom activities. Further information is available in APPENDIX 3.

ESL is also known as EAL/D (English as an additional language or dialect).

Students to be excluded

- students whose first language is English;
- students whose English proficiency has been improved to a normal classroom participation level;
- students whose basic requirement is remedial English tuition;
- overseas students who require ESL assistance (refer to Overseas Students in these Instructions); and
- students on visitor visas, bridging visas with study limitations or no visa who require ESL assistance (refer to Students on visitor visas, bridging visas with study limitations or no visa in these Instructions)

Completing the ESL fields

ESL students who attend the school full-time

If you selected English as a Second Language (ESL) students in need of language assistance in the Student profile, and one or more ESL students attend the school full-time, you will need to complete the ESL column under Eligible primary/secondary full-time students. All boxes that need to be completed appear red in colour and turn white once completed.

Enter all Eligible ESL primary/secondary full-time students according to their year of schooling. The number of ESL students cannot exceed the total number of students in the year level.

You can select the Set empty fields to 0 button, once you have entered all students to populate the remaining fields with "0".

ESL students who attend the school part-time

If you selected English as a Second Language (ESL) students in need of language assistance in the Student profile, and one or more ESL students attend the school part-time, you will need to complete the ESL checkbox when you enter a student as a part-time student and that student is an ESL student.

After selecting the OK button, the part-time student's FTE will be added to the summary ESL column.

Indigenous students

Indigenous students are those students of Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander descent who identify as an Aboriginal or a Torres Strait Islander.

Where school records do not include this information, schools may need to rely on self-identification or seek parental advice.

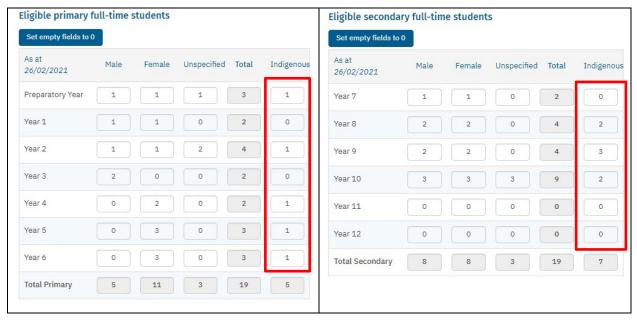

Records of this information need to be retained by the school/governing body for a period of five years from Census Day, and in a way that ensures the integrity and security of the data and documents.

It is important to note that Indigenous persons exercise a choice in identifying their Indigenous status, and identification of Indigenous status by other parties is to be discouraged.

You can select the Set empty fields to 0 button, once you have entered all students to populate the remaining fields with "0".

Indigenous students who attend the school part-time

If you selected Indigenous students in the Student profile, and one or more Indigenous students attend the school part-time, you will need to complete the Indigenous checkbox when you enter a student as a part-time student and that student is an Indigenous student.

STUDENTS WITH SPECIAL NEEDS

After selecting the OK button, the part-time student's FTE will be added to the summary Indigenous column.

Students with disability (SWD)

A student with disability must meet the following criteria:

- the student must have a diagnosis of Autism Spectrum Disorder, Hearing Impairment, Intellectual Disability, Physical Impairment, Speech-Language Impairment, Vision Impairment or Social Emotional Disorder;
- the student must be verified under the Education Adjustment Program (EAP) as meeting the diagnostic criteria and be eligible for additional resources in respect of activity limitations and participation restrictions in relation to their educational program; and
- the student must be in receipt of a support service or program in response to the activity limitations and particular restrictions of the disability.

Note: All students enrolled at and attending a non-State school accredited for special education are eligible to be included as students with disability, regardless of whether the verification process is completed by Census Day. This does not remove the requirement for the verification process to be completed for all students with disability at non-State schools accredited for special education. If a student subsequently fails to meet the verification requirements, it is the governing body's responsibility to inform the Board and the department so that the data can be amended and any action necessary be taken.

To ensure a student with disability is eligible for inclusion in the Census, the student must be verified by Census Day (excluding students enrolled at and attending a non-State school accredited for special education whose verification can be completed after Census Day). Verification is the process of confirming that a student's identified impairment, and the associated activity limitations and participation restrictions, which require significant education adjustments, meet criteria for one or more of the Education Adjustment Program (EAP) categories. The verification has to be completed by Census Day and the verification cannot have expired. A student's verification will expire if it is not reviewed within two years of the stated review date.

Records of each student's verification under the EAP and the specific educational adjustments, which indicate the types of educational support services and resources provided, are to be retained by the school/governing body for a period of five years from Census Day, and in a way that ensures the integrity and security of the data and documents.

A student may have educational needs arising from disability in more than one category. In this case, a student with multiple disabilities should be included on one line only in the table EAP by impairment category, but with each disability category included across that line in the table.

Disability categories for verification

- Autism Spectrum Disorder (ASD);
- Hearing Impairment (HI);
- Intellectual Disability (ID);
- Physical Impairment (PI);
- Speech-Language Impairment (SLI);
- Vision Impairment (VI); and
- Social Emotional Disorder (SED).

Students to be excluded

The following students are not eligible under this program and must not be included as students with disability:

- students whose only impairment is a specific learning difficulty or for whom remedial education or remedial support is appropriate;
- students whose only impairment is a temporary medical condition or a long-term episodic condition (such as epilepsy);
- students at non-State schools accredited for primary and/or secondary education not verified on Census Day;
- overseas students (refer to Overseas students in these Instructions); and
- students on visitor visas, bridging visas with study limitations or no visa (refer to Students on visitor visas, bridging visas with study limitations or no visa in these Instructions);

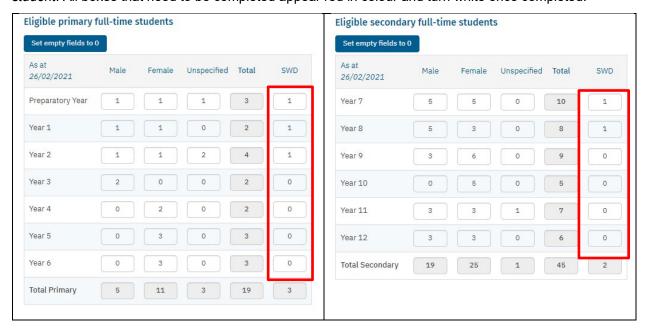

For further information, refer to the EAP Handbook published by the Department, or contact:

- Independent Schools Queensland;
- Catholic Education Diocesan offices for Diocesan Catholic non-State schools;
- Queensland Catholic Education Commission for other Catholic non-State schools (for example, RI/PJP schools); or
- the NSSAB Secretariat.

Completing the SWD fields and SWD page

SWD students who attend the school full-time

If you selected Students with disability (SWD) in the Student profile, and one or more SWD students attend the school full-time, you will need to complete the SWD column under Eligible primary/secondary full-time student. All boxes that need to be completed appear red in colour and turn white once completed.

Enter all Eligible SWD primary/secondary full-time students according to their year of schooling. The number of SWD students cannot exceed the number of students in the year level.

You can select the Set empty fields to 0 button once you have entered all students to populate the remaining fields with "0".

After entering the numbers, the Students with disability page will prepopulate with the relevant number of rows for completion.

SWD students who attend the school part-time

If you selected Students with disability (SWD) in the Student profile, and one or more SWD students attend the school part-time, you will need to complete the SWD checkbox when you enter a student as a part-time student and that student is a student with disability.

After selecting the OK button, the part-time student's FTE will be added to the summary SWD column and the Students with disability page will prepopulate with the relevant number of rows for completion.

Students with disability page

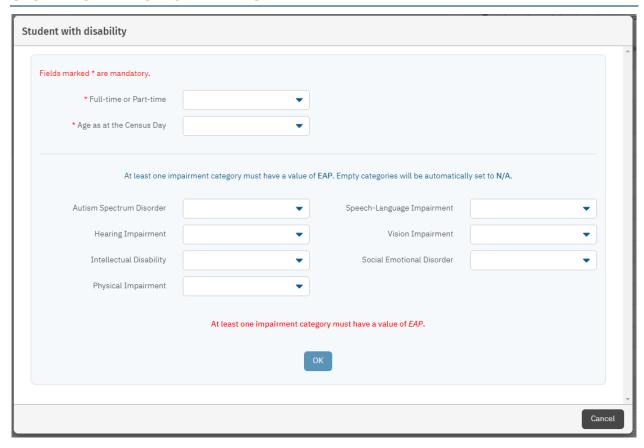

The system will generate the required number of SWD rows (as entered in the previous screens). Each line represents a student and will need to be completed with their EAP.

If there are not enough or too many rows, you may need to adjust the number of SWDs on either the full-time students or part-time students page.

Click the Add button or Click here to enter the details of each student. A new window will pop up. Enter the relevant information per SWD.

STUDENTS WITH SPECIAL NEEDS

A new window will pop up. Enter all of the information as requested. Multiple impairments can be selected per student.

- Full-time or Part-time Select either full-time or part-time Mandatory field.
- Age as at the Census Day Select the age of the student (as at Census day) from the dropdown menu- Mandatory field.
- Autism Spectrum Disorder Select EAP if the student has been verified for Autism Spectrum Disorder from the drop-down menu.
- Hearing Impairment Select EAP if the student has been verified for Hearing Impairment from the drop-down menu.
- Intellectual Disability Select EAP if the student has been verified for Intellectual Disability from the drop-down menu.
- Physical Impairment Select EAP if the student has been verified for Physical Impairment from the drop-down menu.
- Speech-Language Impairment Select EAP if the student has been verified for Speech-Language Impairment from the drop-down menu.
- Vision Impairment Select EAP if the student has been verified for Vision Impairment from the drop-down menu.
- Social Emotional Disorder Select EAP if the student has been verified for Social Emotional Disorder from the drop-down menu.

Click the OK button when all categories have been entered. If a category is left blank, the system will automatically set blank fields to N/A. Continue until all lines have been completed.

STUDENTS WITH SPECIAL NEEDS

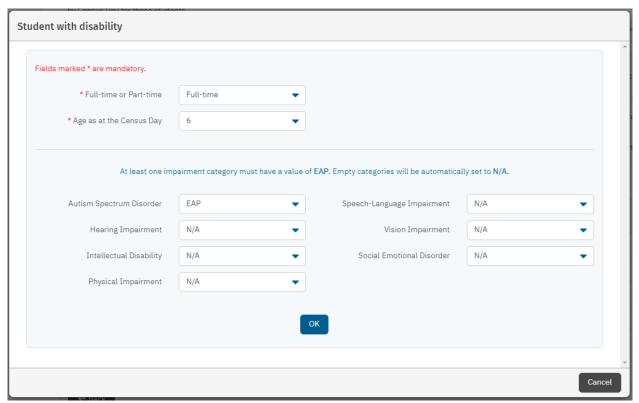

If you need to delete an entry, select the bin icon against the student you wish to delete.

A new window will pop-up. Click the Yes button if you wish to delete the line.

If you need to amend the details for a student select the pencil icon appear. Edit the details and select the OK button to finish.

Select the Next button once you have completed all fields.

Students from isolated zones

Student identification

Identification of the number of students from isolated areas of the State attending each non-State school is required to assist with the allocation of the needs component of recurrent assistance. Student isolation is based on the student's home address when not attending school.

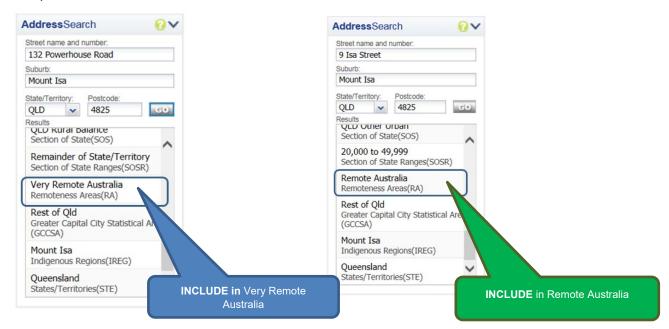

Home address means the residential address where the student would normally live with a parent/guardian when not attending school.

Only students whose home address is designated Remote Australia or Very Remote Australia should be included in this section of the Census form.

Note: Areas in and around Cloncurry and Mount Isa may be designated as either Remote Australia or Very Remote Australia. Schools with students from these areas should use the Australian Bureau of Statistics (ABS) mapping tool to determine the designation of the home addresses of these students. The tool is available at http://www.abs.gov.au/websitedbs/censushome.nsf/home/map.

Examples of the address searches:

The results of the searches must be retained by the school for audit purposes.

Interstate students

For students from another State or Territory, use the ABS mapping tool to determine isolation. Note: This is not applicable for students in distance education.

If you require clarification of eligibility, please contact the NSSAB Secretariat.

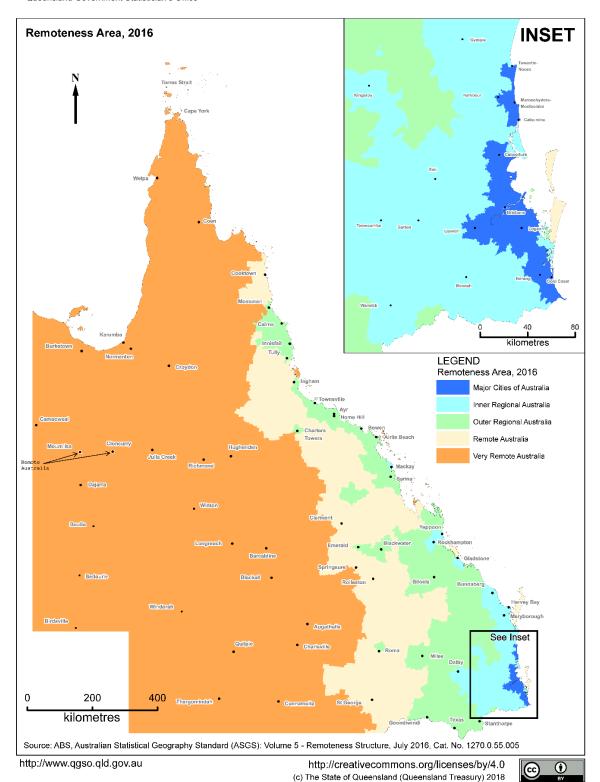

Students to be excluded

- students whose home address is located in Outer Regional Australia, Inner Regional Australia or Major Cities of Australia;
- overseas students (refer to Overseas students in these Instructions); and
- 'Students on visitor visas, bridging visas with study limitations or no visa' (refer to Students on visitor visas, bridging visas with study limitations or no visa in these Instructions).

Completing the Isolated students fields

Isolated students who attend the school full-time

If you selected Students from isolated (remote) zones or Students from isolated (very remote) zones in the Student profile, and the isolated students attend the school full-time, you will need to complete the Isolation (Remote) or Isolation (Very remote) column under Eligible primary/secondary full-time students.

You may enter one or both of these depending on the student's home address when not attending school.

All boxes that need to be completed appear red in colour and turn white once completed.

Enter all Eligible isolated primary/secondary full-time students that are either "Remote" or "Very remote" according to their year of schooling. The number of isolated students cannot exceed the number of students in the year level.

You can select the Set empty fields to 0 button once you have entered all students to populate the remaining fields with "0".

Isolated students who attend the school part-time

If you selected Students from isolated (remote) zones or Students from isolated (very remote) zones in the Student profile, and one or more isolated students attend the school part-time, you will need to complete the Isolation (Remote) or Isolation (Very remote) checkbox when you enter a student as a part-time student and that student is an isolated student. You cannot select both for the same student.

After selecting the OK button, the part-time student's FTE will be added to the summary Isolation column.

Boarding students and Boarding fee concessions

Boarding students

Only schools accredited to enrol boarding students should complete this section.

Boarding students are students who:

- attend the school at its approved location and are accommodated in residential facilities administered by the school; or
- attend the school at its approved location and are accommodated in residential facilities at another school, which has been approved by the Board.

The boarding student enrolment counts should be included at the school the students are attending rather than where the residential facilities are located.

Students to be included

- boarding students whose parents are Australian citizens or permanent residents, whether the parents reside in Australia or overseas; and
- students who attend the school and are accommodated in residential facilities administered by the school or another school as approved by the Board.

Students to be excluded

- boarding students who do not attend the school for tuition, unless a formal agreement has been approved by the Board;
- overseas students (refer to Overseas students in these Instructions); and
- Students on visitor visas, bridging visas with study limitations or no visa (refer to Students on visitor visas, bridging visas with study limitations or no visa in these Instructions).

Boarding fee concessions

Data from 2020 only should be used throughout this section on boarding fee concessions, as it is the most recent data on the pattern of boarding fee concessions for a full year. All money amounts should be rounded to the nearest dollar.

The general aim is to give more assistance to schools that are giving concessions for reasons of economic hardship, as well as providing compensation for loss of income incurred through non-collection of fees (bad debts).

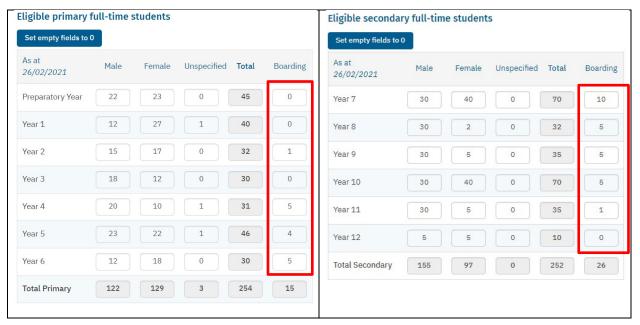

Concessions for other reasons must not be included. For example, schools may give concessions for church membership, for students who are children of staff members, or as sporting or academic scholarships. These should not be included unless there is also economic hardship.

For those schools where the boarding students are attending at another school, contact the NSSAB Secretariat for clarification in completing this section. This will be determined according to the agreement of fees and concessions administration.

Completing the Boarding students fields and Boarding fee concessions page

Boarding students who attend the school full-time

If your school is accredited for boarding students, and one or more boarding students attend the school full-time, you will need to complete the Boarding column under Eligible primary/secondary full-time students. All boxes that need to be completed appear red in colour and turn white once completed.

Enter all Eligible primary/secondary full-time students that are boarding according to their year of schooling. The number of boarding students cannot exceed the number of students in the year level.

You can select the Set empty fields to 0 button once you have entered all students to populate the remaining fields with "0".

Boarding students who attend the school part-time

If your school is accredited for boarding students, and one or more boarding students attend the school part-time, you will need to complete the Boarding checkbox when you enter a student as a part-time student and that student is a boarding student.

After selecting the OK button, the part-time student's FTE will be added to the summary Boarding column.

Accredited for Boarding, no Boarding student enrolments

If the school is accredited for Boarding, but has no Boarding student enrolments in 2021, please enter 0 for all Boarding fields. This will not cause a validation error.

Boarding only site, no classroom or distance education

Schools that have a site that is accredited for boarding only will not be completing a census form for that site. All boarding students are to be included on the host centre census form or other associated facility that is accredited for boarding.

If no other site is accredited for boarding, please contact the Board Secretariat. You will need to provide this information manually.

Boarding fee concessions

Only non-State schools accredited to enrol boarding students, and eligible for funding for boarding, should complete this section.

2020 Average Boarding Enrolment: Schools should use the data on boarding enrolments provided in the 2020 Census for the Australian Government Department of Education (DE). Where the boarding enrolment in the DE census varies by 10 per cent or more from the boarding enrolment at the beginning of Semester 1 2020, schools should calculate an average of these two figures. Insert these data opposite the appropriate year levels. Enter a zero if there is no enrolment at particular year levels.

2020 Boarding Fee: The fee that an individual student would usually be charged as a 'first child'. The boarding fee excludes fees charged for the building account and other fixed costs.

Notional Boarding Fee Income (calculated): is obtained by multiplying the 2020 Average Boarding Enrolment by the 2020 Boarding Fee for each year level.

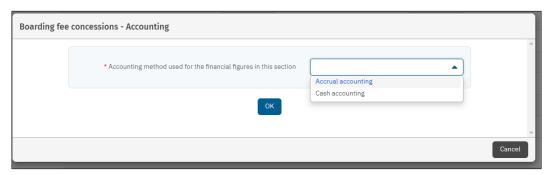

Total Average Boarding Enrolment (2020) (calculated): is calculated by adding all the individual year level enrolments at 2020 Average Boarding Enrolment.

Total Notional Boarding Fee Income (2020) (calculated): is calculated by adding all the individual year level Notional Boarding Fee Income amounts. This total amount should be greater than or equal to the total boarding fees collected added to all fee concessions.

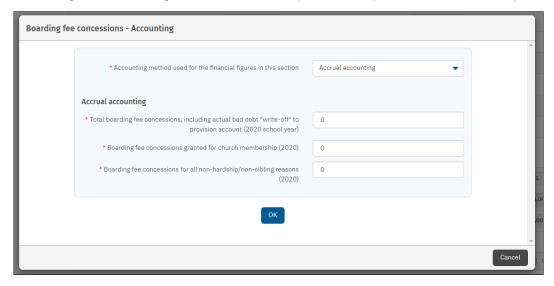

Notional boarding fee per student (calculated): is calculated by dividing the Total Notional Boarding Fee Income (2020) by Total Average Boarding Enrolment (2020).

Next add in the Accounting method by clicking the Edit button.

If selecting the 'Accounting method' from the drop down, complete the information required.

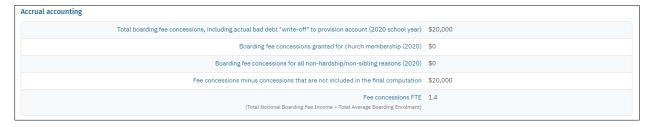

Accrual accounting only:

Total Boarding fee concessions, including actual bad debt 'write-off' to provision account (2020 school year): to obtain all boarding fee concessions, including bad debt provisions that apply to the 2020 school year.

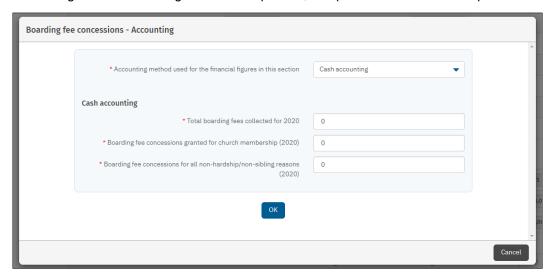

Boarding fee concessions granted for church membership (2020): The amount which has been granted as concessions for church or parish membership during 2020.

Boarding fee concessions for all non-hardship/non-sibling reasons (2020): The amount which has been granted as scholarships or concessions for reasons other than economic hardship or having student siblings – for example, concessions to students who are children of staff members.

Select the OK button. The information will now appear.

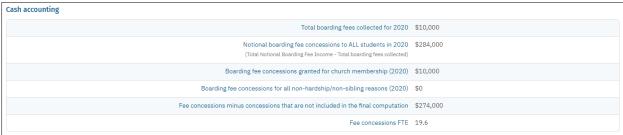

If selecting 'Cash Accounting' from the drop down, complete the information required.

Cash accounting only:

Total boarding fees collected for 2020: is collected as boarding fees for 2020. The figure should be readily derived from examination of a 2020 financial statement. Monies collected in 2020 that relate to the 2019 school year should be included.

Notional boarding fee concessions to ALL students in 2020 (calculated): is obtained by deducting total boarding fees collected from total notional boarding fee income.

Fee concessions minus concessions that are not included in the final computation (calculated): Notional boarding fee concessions to ALL students in 2020 minus Boarding fee concessions for church membership/ non-hardship/non-sibling reasons (2020).

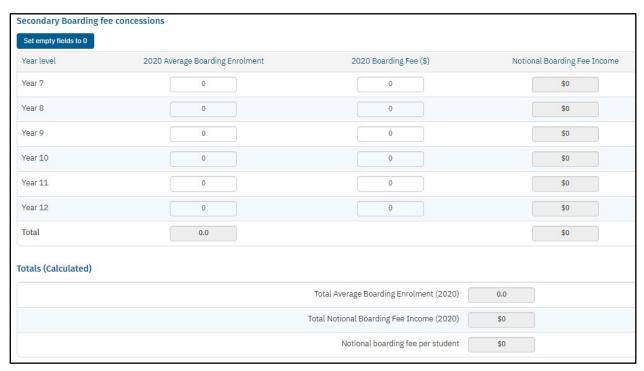

This calculation removes fee concessions that are not included in the final computation of school fee concessions.

Fee concessions FTE (calculated): Fee concessions minus concessions that are not included in the final computation divided by Notional boarding fee per student.

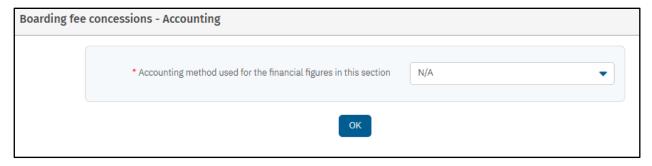

This calculation converts the dollar value of all concessions that are not included in the final computation into an equivalent number of full-time students who have been granted full-fee concessions.

No Boarding fee concessions data available from 2020

If there are no Boarding fee concession data available from 2020, please enter 0 for the Boarding fee concessions fields.

For Accounting method, select N/A.

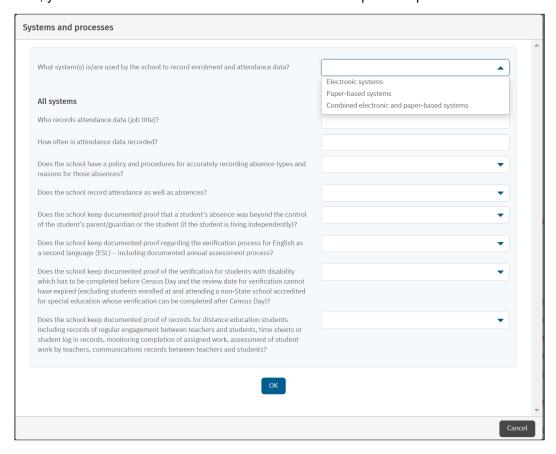

Systems and processes

Schools should implement appropriate systems, policies and procedures to collect accurate information to correctly complete the Census.

Completing the Systems and processes page

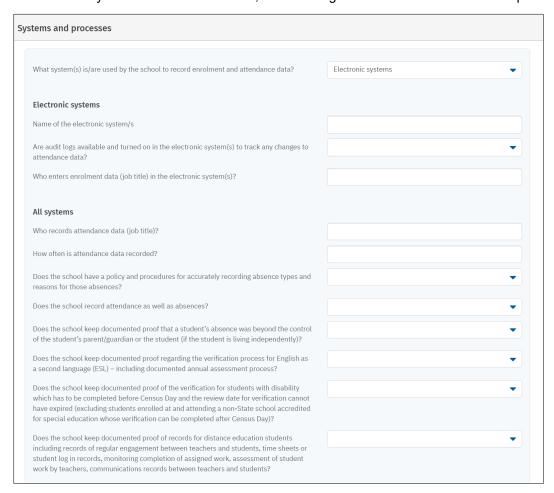

To start answering the questions, select Click here next to any of the questions.

A new window will pop up where you are able to provide your answers. Once you have answered the first question What system(s) is/are used by the school to record enrolment and attendance data?, all relevant fields required to be completed will be shown. As you complete this section and move through the various cells, you either enter the information or select from the drop-down option available.

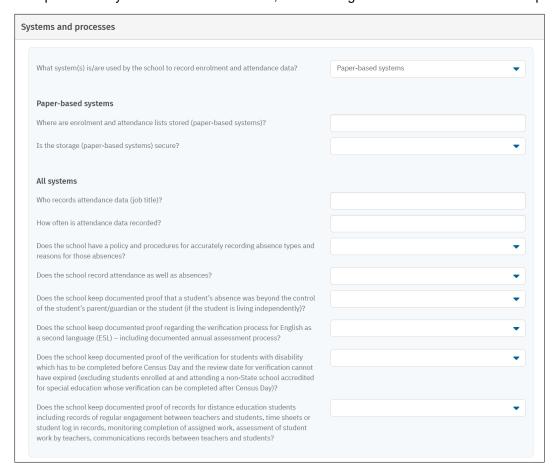

Electronic

If "Electronic systems" has been selected, the following fields will be available for completion.

Paper-based

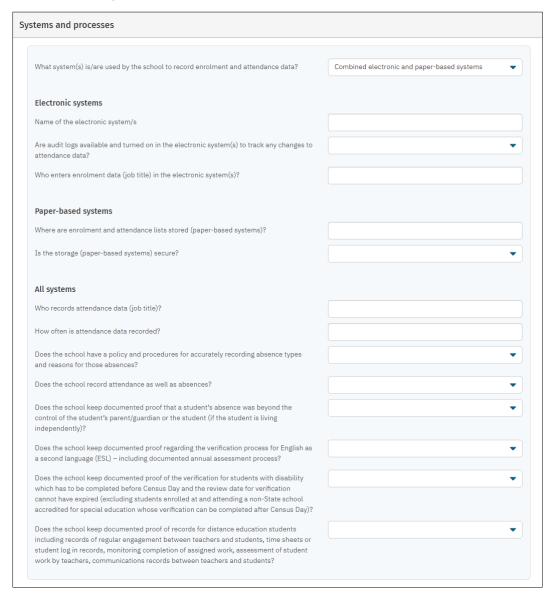

If "Paper-based systems" has been selected, the following fields will be available for completion.

SYSTEMS AND PROCESSES

Combined electronic and paper-based

If "Combined electronic and paper-based systems" has been selected, the following fields will be available for completion.

Once you have provided all your answers, select the OK button. The data entered will appear on the Systems and processes page.

Select the Next button at the bottom right of the page or Checklist from the left-hand progress indicator to move to the Checklist page.

Checklist

All boxes in the checklist are required to be checked, including those where no enrolments are recorded. This is to verify that the school records have been interrogated to determine whether or not there are enrolments in all needs categories.

Completing the Checklist page

Read the checklist items thoroughly to ensure you have interrogated and recorded all data correctly. Select each checkbox as you move through the items to confirm that everything in in order.

Select the Next button at the bottom right of the page or Authorisation and declaration from the left-hand progress indicator to move to the Authorisation and declaration page.

Authorisation and declaration

Incomplete sections or validation errors

If you see an error message when you get to this page, you will need to look for either a red question mark or a red triangle in the left-hand progress indicator.

A red question mark means information is still required in that section

A red triangle means there is one or more errors in that section. Errors are either highlighted on the actual field (if field specific) or an error message will appear on the relevant page (if section specific).

Authorisation and declaration

Please provide all required information and resolve all validation errors

Once all required information has been entered and there are no validation errors, you will be able to complete this section. A red question mark ② on the progress indicator (left side of screen) means information is still required in that section, and a red triangle 🛕 means there is one or more errors in that section.

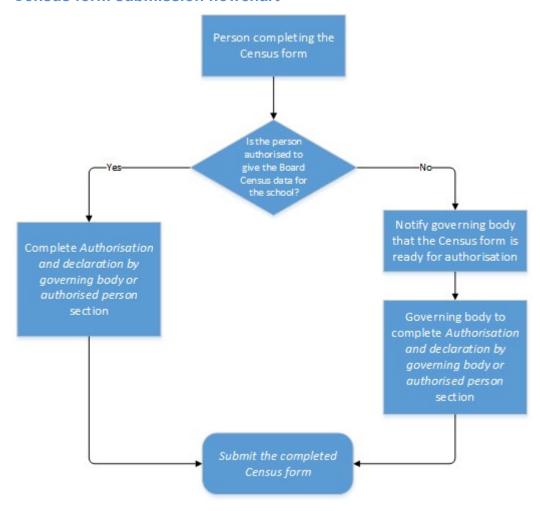

The Authorisation and declaration, and the submission of the Census form, must be done by the person authorised by the governing body (the 'Authorised person') to submit school Census data on behalf of the governing body.

The Authorised person is required to declare the data to be a true and correct record and that all appropriate documentation will be retained by the school/governing body for a period of five years from Census Day, in a way that ensures the integrity and security of the data and documents.

If a person at the school is the Authorised person, ensure that person checks the data and completes the Authorisation and declaration by governing body or authorised person section before submitting the Census form. Otherwise contact the governing body to let them know the Census form is ready for authorisation and submission. Also, refer to Arrangements for schools under certain governing bodies on the following page of these Instructions.

The diagram below may assist with establishing the path needed to submit the Census form to the NSSAB Secretariat.

How to submit the census

If you see the below message, the form is ready to be submitted.

To submit the form, select the Submit the completed Census form button.

Submit the form

The Census form is now ready for submission.

Please click the button below to submit the Census form to the Board.

Submit the completed Census form

This will submit the completed form to the Board. No further changes can be made to the Census form after submission, unless you are contacted by the Board Secretariat.

Once submission has taken place, a receipt will automatically be emailed to the authorised user who submitted the data collection form, indicating that it has been received and providing a receipt number for future reference.

If you find an error in your submission, please contact the Board Secretariat.

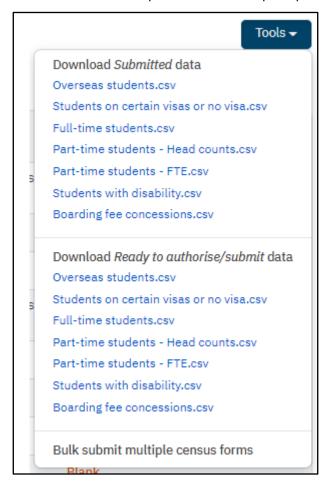

Census Feedback Survey

The Board is continually looking for ways to improve the administration and collection of the data in this Census. Please complete the Census Feedback Survey. A link to the Census Feedback Survey will appear after submission of the Census form on the Submit page. All responses are anonymous.

Tools

The Online Census has built in tools that might assist governing body and school users during or after census submission. The Tools menu can be found on the top right-hand side on the Census homepage.

Select Tools and a drop-down menu will open up.

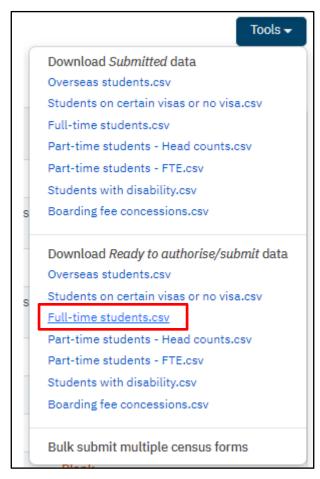

You can perform the following tasks:

- Download Ready to authorise/submit data
- Download Submitted data
- Bulk submit multiple census forms (up to 20 at a time)

These tools may be useful for governing bodies with multiple schools to check the raw data (csv format) in their system before submission, download a copy of the raw data (csv format) after submission or submit completed and authorised data collection forms in bulk.

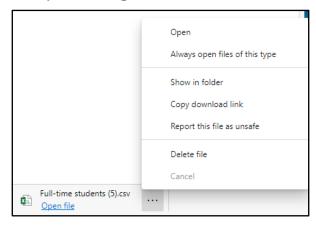

Download Ready to authorise/submit data

To download data prior to submission, select the relevant .csv file under the heading "Download Ready to authorise/submit data".

Depending on your browser, the file will either download to a location on your computer or ask you what you want to do with it.

Example from Edge

You can Open the file or open the folder that the file downloaded to.

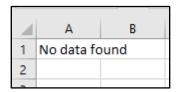

Example from Internet Explorer

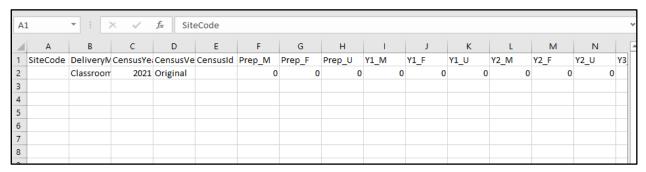

You can either Open or Save the file.

The csv file

If there is no data as none of the data collection forms have a status of Ready to authorise or Ready to submit, the file will say "No data found".

Otherwise the data will display in the .csv file for all census returns that have a status of Ready to authorise or Ready to submit.

Download Submitted data

To download all submitted data, select the relevant .csv file under the heading "Download Submitted data".

Follow the remaining steps as per Download Ready to authorise/submit data.

Bulk submit multiple census forms

You can bulk submit up to 20 census forms at a time as long as these have been completed without errors and have the Authorisation and declaration filled in. The census form status has to be Ready to submit.

Select Bulk submit multiple census forms from the Tools menu.

This will show you all the census forms that are ready to be submitted.

Select the census forms that you would like to submit in bulk (you can select up to 20 at a time) by ticking the box at the start of the row of the form.

The page will show you how many you have selected.

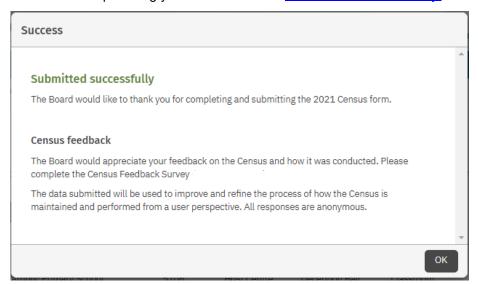

Select the Submit the selected census forms button.

TOOLS

A progress indicator bar will who how far along the submission is.

Once the submission process is complete, a pop-up window will appear telling you that the submission was successful and providing you with a link to the Census Feedback Survey.

Further guidelines - distance education

Attendance between the start of the school year and ending on Census Day, of distance education students enrolled at a distance education school.

Overview

In respect of the Census, whether a student enrolled as a distance education student at a distance education school is taken to be attending the school depends generally on:

- if the student is complying with the school's requirements about communicating with or contacting the school for the purpose of participating in the program; and
- if the student is completing and returning the assigned work for the program.

This is generally referred to as a full-service being delivered by the distance education school to its enrolled distance education students.

Only distance education students:

- resident in Queensland;
- enrolled full-time:
- undertaking a full service delivery course in distance education; and
- who enrolled at least 11 days before Census Day (or less if the delay was beyond the control of the parent or independent student) should be included in the Census form. Part-time distance education students are ineligible to be included in the Census.

Elaborative comments

An enrolled student must reside in Queensland.

Other indicators of a full-service being delivered by the distance education school to an enrolled distance education student follow:

- the student is receiving lessons and educational support by the school's teachers;
- the student has commenced, is working on, or has completed lessons and educational activities;
- the student's work is regularly tracked and assessed by the school's teachers;
- the student has access to a help facility provided by the school's teachers;
- regular contact with the student is made by the school's teachers;
- the school's teachers regularly monitor the students' learning achievements; and
- the school keeps a record of any days on which a student is unable to undertake the educational program because of illness, or other reasonable cause.

Retention of documentation

All enrolment, attendance and related documentation used in completing the Census form is to be retained by the school/governing body for a period of five years from Census Day, and in a way that ensures the integrity and security of the data and documents.

Further guidelines - attendance

Attending the school for less than the prescribed number of days between the start of the school year and ending on Census Day.

Overview

A student (whether full-time or part-time) must be enrolled at the school.

A student who has attended the school for less than the prescribed number of days between the first day that students are to attend the school at the start of the school year and ending on Census Day, can be included in the Census, if the student's absence was for a reason that was beyond the control of:

- the student if the student is living independently of his or her parents or guardian; or
- otherwise the student's parent or guardian.

In each case where a student has attended the school for less than the prescribed number of days and been included in the Census, there must be documented evidence confirming the reasons preventing the student from attending the school during this period.

Documentation detailing the explanation of the absence and confirming that the absence was beyond the control of the student's parents or guardians, or the student, if living independently, must be retained by the school/governing body for a period of five years from Census Day, and in a way that ensures the integrity and security of the data and documents.

Non-exhaustive list of examples

Below are some examples to assist governing bodies to accurately complete the Census form.

The examples include situations where a student's enrolment takes place after 11 days prior to Census Day and on or before Census Day.

Examples are given of reasons for absence that are beyond the control of the student's parent/guardian, or the student (if living independently). These reasons for absence include:

- natural disasters cyclone, bushfire, flood;
- student's illness;
- death or illness of a member of the student's immediate family (such as a parent, guardian, grandparent, sibling);
- · funeral customs within the student's community; or
- student is a competitor in an elite level sports competition.

While it is not possible to provide an exhaustive list of particularised examples to cover all contingencies in schools, the following provides some guidance in situations which arise from time-to-time.

Multiple examples or circumstances may apply during the relevant period for a student. If an example states that the student can be included or counted in the Census, this refers to the days that can be counted towards attendance for that example only. Overall the student may still not be eligible if the days that the student was attending the school plus the absences that were beyond the control do not add up to 11 or more.

Student is enrolled after 11 days prior to Census Day and on or before Census Day

An enrolled student whose enrolment takes place after 11 days prior to Census Day and on or before Census Day is to be included if the student has not attended the school for the prescribed number of days and if the student's absence was for a reason that was beyond the control of the student's parent, or the student (if living independently).

Natural disasters - cyclone, bushfire, flood

An enrolled student is to be included if the student has been prevented² from attending for the prescribed number of days due to a natural disaster (for example, cyclone, bushfire, flood); irrespective of whether the student has attended the school on or before Census Day.

Example: Full-time enrolment - eligible

Peter, an enrolled student, lives 15 kilometres from his school. He has been unable to travel to school because the roads to his home residence are covered by floodwaters too deep to drive through. Other modes of travel are impractical. Peter has been able to attend the school for only two days before Census Day.

Decision: Peter is eligible to be included in the Census as the flood is beyond the control of his parents.

Example: Full-time enrolment - not eligible

Sanjay is a student who enrolled at a non-State school on the first day of the first term. He lives 20 kilometres from the school and has been unable to attend for three days because of a cyclone, during which it would have been unsafe to travel. Sanjay's total attendance for the period before the Census was four days, and he could have easily travelled on other days as there were no other factors preventing him from attending. Decision: Sanjay is not eligible to be counted in the Census as his non-attendance was within the control of his parents.

Student transferring from a State or another non-State school

An enrolled student is to be included if the student has 'transferred' from another school (State or non-State), and has been prevented² from attending school for the prescribed number of days; irrespective of whether the student has attended the school before or on Census Day.

Example: Full-time enrolment - eligible

Roger was formerly enrolled in a government school in Tasmania. One of his parents has been unexpectedly transferred over the summer holidays to Queensland. Over the holidays, they enrolled Roger in the school. As a result of delays in moving out of the family home in Tasmania, securing a residence near the parent's work and Roger's school, and travelling interstate, since arriving Roger has attended all three available days of school.

Decision: Roger is eligible to be included in the Census as the time taken to move to Queensland is beyond the control of his parents.

Example: Full-time enrolment - eligible

Tania was formerly enrolled in a State school. Excessive bullying had taken place on her return to school and, after seeking advice from the school's counsellors, Tania's parents agreed she should transfer to another school. Tania was enrolled at the new school only two days before Census Day and therefore did not attend the required 11 days. There is documented evidence to support the transfer decision due to the bullying.

Decision: Tania is eligible to be included in the Census as the bullying was beyond the control of her parents.

²'prevented' must be for a reason that met the 'Beyond the control of' test

Example: Full-time enrolment - eligible

Murdock's parents enrolled him in a school (School A) because a place was not available in their school of choice for Murdock (School B). During the period leading up to the Census, a place becomes available at School B for which the parents promptly accept enrolment. The day on which Murdock's parents accepted the enrolment at School B was five school days before Census Day, and he commenced attending at School B on that day. This was, of course, insufficient to attend for 11 days.

Decision: Murdock is eligible to be included in the Census at School B as the timing around a place becoming available at the school of choice was beyond the control of his parents.

Note: If School A is a non-State school, Murdock cannot be included on the Census for School A because he would not be enrolled at the school on Census Day.

Example: Full-time enrolment – not eligible

Annette was formerly enrolled in a State school in Queensland in close proximity to a non-State school. Three days out from Census Day, Annette's parents decided to cease her enrolment in the State school and enrol her in the non-State school, whereupon she attended for all three days.

Decision: Annette is not eligible to be counted in the Census as the family's decision to change Annette's school enrolment was within their control.

Note: If Annette ceased enrolment at the State school as a result of bullying, this scenario would fit under student emotional and behavioural issues regarding meeting the minimum attendance requirements and 'Beyond the control of' test.

Student illness

An enrolled student is to be included if the student has been prevented² from attending for the prescribed number of days due to the student's medical condition (verified by supporting evidence, for example, record of parental contact or medical certificate); irrespective of whether the student has attended the school on or before Census Day.

Student travel (for example, holidays)

An enrolled student is not to be included if the student has not attended the school for the prescribed number of days due to planned travel (for example, holidays) during the period from the start of the school year and ending on Census Day.

An enrolled student is to be included if the student has been absent because of planned travel (for example, holidays) during the summer holidays and has been unable, due to unforeseen circumstances³, to return as planned in order to attend the school for the prescribed number of days; irrespective of whether the student has attended the school on or before Census Day.

Example: Full-time enrolment – eligible

Vanessa, an enrolled student at the school, travelled with her family to a remote part of Indonesia over the summer holidays. The family planned to return home on the third day of the first school term, so that Vanessa could attend school on and from that day. That part of Indonesia, however, experienced a catastrophic earthquake. This prevented the family from returning home until two days before Census Day, enabling Vanessa to attend the school for those two days.

Decision: Vanessa is eligible to be included in the Census as the earthquake is beyond the control of her parents.

³ 'unforeseen circumstances' must be for a reason that met the 'Beyond the control of' test.

Example: Full-time enrolment - eligible

Simon, an enrolled student at the school, travelled overseas with his family during the summer holidays. They planned to return home to enable Simon to attend school on the first day of Term 1. All return air flights, however, were cancelled for an extended period. This prevented the family from returning home until five days before Census Day, enabling Simon to attend the school for four days.

Decision: Simon is eligible to be included in the Census as cancellation of the flights was beyond the control of his parents.

Example: Full-time enrolment - not eligible

Suzie is currently enrolled at the school and went to California with her family over the summer holidays. Accommodation and return airfares were more than twice the price during the school holidays, so the family decided it would be more economical to leave in late January and return to Australia on 18 February. This saved them thousands of dollars and meant that the family holiday could take place. The parents notified the school of the pending absence, allowing the principal to keep file notes.

Decision: Suzie is not eligible to be counted in the Census as the family's decision to spend time overseas during the school term was within their control. Financial impact is not considered as meeting the 'Beyond the control of' test.

Example: Full-time attendance – not eligible, even though exemption from attendance is granted by principal

Skye is an enrolled student in Year 6 for classroom education at the school. Skye's family has decided to travel around Australia by motorhome for six months. The school principal has granted Skye an exemption under section 185 (1) of the Education (General Provisions) Act 2006 from attending the school. He has agreed to provide Skye's parents with work tasks and reading lists for her. The parents will pay the school full tuition for Skye for that six month period.

Decision: Even though Skye's non-attendance may satisfy the exemption from attendance test under section 185A (that is, the child cannot attend the school, or it would be unreasonable in all the circumstances to require the child to attend the school), she is not eligible to be counted in the Census. The parents' decision to travel around Australia has not met the 'Beyond the control of' test.

Note: The Manager, Office of Non-State Education is responsible for approving any exemption for a student enrolled in a non-State school that is for more than 110 school days, or that would cause the total period of exemptions granted to exceed 110 school days in a calendar year. Further information is available at http://ppr.det.qld.gov.au/education/management/Pages/Exemptions-from-Compulsory-Schooling-and-Compulsory-Participation.aspx.

Student suspension (howsoever called) from attendance

An enrolled student is to be included if the student has attended the school for less than the prescribed number of days, because the student has been suspended from attendance under a student disciplinary arrangement applying to the school.

Enrolled student is a competitor in an elite level sports competition

An enrolled student is to be included if the student has attended the school for less than the prescribed number of days, because the student is participating in an elite level sporting competition.

An 'elite level sports competition' is a sporting competition at a state, national or international level.

Example: Full-time enrolment - eligible

Brooke, an enrolled student at the school, has attended the school for five days. Brooke has been absent from school because she has been a competitor in a national junior golf competition, which has prevented her from meeting the 11 days of attendance required for inclusion on the school's Census.

Decision: Brooke is eligible to be included in the Census as the junior golf competition is a national elite level sports competition, the scheduling of which is beyond the control of her parents.

Student emotional and behavioural issues

An enrolled student is to be included if the student has attended the school for less than the prescribed number of days, but the student has been absent because of the student's emotional issues or behaviour, or both: provided that an officer of the school has been actively and consistently working with the student to facilitate the student's attendance.

Example: Full-time enrolment – eligible

Nathan is a student at a special assistance school. He was previously enrolled at the nearby State school, but behavioural issues led to him being excluded. His attendance at the special assistance school has been erratic since he started there at the beginning of the school year. The school has been contacting the home by phone and email, and has visited the home in an attempt to get him to attend regularly. The school has kept records of every attempted contact.

Decision: Nathan is eligible to be included in the Census as the school has actively and consistently worked with him, and has kept records of all of their activity.

Example:

See also Tania's scenario under transfers for an example related to student bullying and applying the 'Beyond the control of' test.

Death of, or physical or mental illness of, a member of the student's immediate family

An enrolled student is to be included if the student has been prevented² from attending for the prescribed number of days because of the death of, or physical or mental illness of (as verified by, for example, a parent/guardian), a member of the student's immediate family (such as a parent, guardian, grandparent, sibling); irrespective of whether the student has attended the school on or before Census Day.

Family reasons

An enrolled student is to be included if the student has attended the school for less than the prescribed number of days due to family reasons that were beyond the control of the parent or guardian, or the student (if living independently). This includes, but is not limited to, child safety, domestic violence, custody or legal matters.

An enrolled student is not to be included if the student has attended the school for less than the prescribed number of days due to family reasons that were within the control of the parent or guardian, or the student (if living independently).

Further guidelines - English as a Second Language (ESL) tuition

Overview

In respect of the Census, whether or not an enrolled student is classified as a student requiring ESL tuition depends on the opinion of the school's principal.

Relevant students should be assessed and there should be documented evidence to support the principal's decision on whether or not the student requires ESL tuition. This evidence must be retained by the school/governing body for a period of five years from Census Day, and in a way that ensures the integrity and security of the data and documents.

Whether or not a student requires ESL tuition

A part-time or full-time student, eligible to be included on the Census for requiring ESL tuition, is to be included if, on or before Census Day, the school's principal has formed an opinion (which the principal has documented with substantiating reasons) that the student (at the time of the Census) requires ESL tuition.

Example: ESL tuition - eligible

Marie is an enrolled student at a school. Marie speaks Aboriginal English and does not have full proficiency in Standard Australian English. In the opinion of the school's principal, Marie requires ESL tuition.

Decision: Marie is eligible to be classified as a student requiring ESL tuition, as the principal has determined, on or before Census Day, that ESL tuition is required and has documented his or her reasons for forming that opinion.

Example: ESL tuition - eligible

Linh is an enrolled student at the school. Linh's parents moved to Australia late last year. Linh is 14 years of age and is in Year 8, the second year of secondary education. The school's principal has undertaken an assessment and decided that Linh requires ESL tuition.

Decision: Linh is eligible to be counted as ESL in the Census, as the principal has determined before Census Day that, in his or her opinion, Linh requires ESL tuition. The principal has documented his or her reasons for forming that opinion.

Example: ESL tuition – not eligible

Kevin is an enrolled student at the school. Kevin's parents migrated to Australia from China when Kevin was five years of age. Neither of his parents speak English. Kevin is now in Year 6, and he speaks, reads and writes English fluently.

Decision: Kevin is not eligible to be counted as ESL in the Census, as he does not require any ESL tuition.

Example: ESL tuition – not eligible

Erick is an enrolled student at the school. Erick's parents migrated to Australia when Erick was five years of age. Erick is in Year 1. The school's principal has not undertaken an assessment as to whether Erick requires ESL tuition.

Decision: Erick is not eligible to be counted as ESL in the Census, as the principal has not determined before Census Day that, in his or her opinion, Erick requires ESL tuition.
